

We are conducting a study for 12-25 year olds who are receiving mental health services.

This study is to learn more about the possible connection between some mental health problems and some physical health issues young adults may experience.

Participation involves:

- Health screening for obesity, blood pressure, cholesterol, and diabetes
- Answering questions about your mental health
- Problem-solving tasks on a computer or with a paper and pencil
- Brain imaging and EEG
- You will be compensated for your time.
